

Medical Education Award to Be Presented at the Ohio ACEP EM Assembly to Colin Kaide, MD, FACEP

Columbus, OH—The Ohio Chapter of the American College of Emergency Physicians (Ohio ACEP) is pleased to announce that the recipient of the 2020 Emergency Physician Medical Education Award is Colin Kaide, MD, FACEP, an exemplary physician educator.

The Emergency Physician Medical Education Award was established to recognize contributions to education in the field of emergency medicine. The honor is bestowed upon emergency physicians who have exhibited excellent teaching skills, implemented an exceptional education program, or developed an innovative teaching model.

Dr. Colin Kaide—Associate Professor at The Ohio State University Emergency Medicine Residency—meets and exceeds these criteria. As an instructor and clinician, he is greatly admired and respected by his students and his peers.

Dr. Kaide has been a faculty member at The Ohio State University Emergency Medicine Residency since 1996. In that time, he has touched the lives of innumerable emergency physicians-in-training. As an educator, his lessons go beyond purely clinical training, employing group didactics, grand rounds lectures, one-on-one tutoring, and bedside teaching. Dr. Kaide is the recipient of multiple teaching awards at Ohio State, including Teacher of the Year for Emergency Medicine, the Ohio State University College of Medicine Excellence in Teaching Award, and the Outstanding Teaching Award.

Dr. Kaide is also nationally recognized in the field of academic and educational emergency medicine, as evidenced by winning National ACEP's prestigious Outstanding Speaker of the Year Award. He lectures extensively on diverse topics ranging from stroke and vertigo to pediatrics and cases rarely seen in the emergency department. He is also a national expert in hematology-related topics, including hemophilia and anticoagulation.

Recently, he and colleague Dr. Christopher San Miguel published a new emergency medicine textbook, LEARNING Rounds—Learn, Evaluate, Adopt, Right Now!, which is the result of years of bedside teaching exercises, compiled into an engaging, fun, and impactful educational resource. Dr. Kaide has also contributed to EM:RAP, a popular emergency medicine education podcast with an international audience of more than 30,000.

Dr. Kaide was nominated by his Ohio State Emergency Medicine Residency colleagues, Drs. Jennifer Frey, Daniel Martin, and Jeffrey Caterino. In their letter nominating Dr. Kaide, they described Dr. Kaide as a world-class medical educator with an unrivaled passion for teaching emergency medicine.

The Emergency Physician Medical Education Award will be presented to Dr. Kaide on March 17, 2020, at the Ohio ACEP Emergency Medicine Assembly. Ohio ACEP congratulates Dr. Colin Kaide on his well-deserved accolade!
